<http://www.hawaiinewsnow.com/story/32713728/ancient-petroglyphs-discovered-on-hawaii-shoreline>

There are 17 or so large, 4 - 5 feet in height, ancient rock art figures that span nearly 60 feet on O'ahu Islands west-side shoreline. 'Anakala Glenn Kila was consulted. These petroglyphs are thousands of years old depicting genealogy. A similar event took place in January 2016 on the north-shore Waimea kahakai when the high surf revealed more than 70 carvings upon the shoreline. With the rising of the tides, all quickly disappeared. A resident of more than 30 years has only seen them exposed four times. Our kūpuna ma reveal our source to us every day. Mai ma nei - Pay attention...

2k16...Kaho'olemana Naone, owner and photographer, of Makawalu Photography, was on a family vacation in Page, Arizona last month. He couldn't resist the beauty displayed among these pristine natural rock formations that they were escorted to see. After viewing later, he realized that it appears to portray a Native person shouting and crying out to the Heavens.

'ike maka - Witness the calling out to the gods for their assist. Times are challenging for the native peoples of this earth. His prayers are heard and the world's indigenous peoples now rise in harmony, united together "to guard the kapu of our ancestors..." You have captured trust in the truth handed down from generation to generation! Maika'i kēla Kaho'olemana...eō
